My Study Log

A self-recording log, after Zimmerman's self-regulated learning — track where your studying actually works.

After each study session, fill in one row — it takes about a minute. After a couple of weeks, look back at your rows: where did you focus best? Who helped you learn? The log gives you evidence about what works, not just a feeling about it.

Date	What I worked on	Started	Time spent	Where	With whom	Confidence (1–5)	One success from this session

Weekly review — look back at your rows:

Where did I focus best? _____

Who helped me learn? _____

One thing I'll try next week: _____